

Join

To be eligible to join the Green Business Partners program, all participants must have:

- A physical location in Fairfax County; and
- A current Virginia business license.

Businesses that join as Members have implemented or commit to implementing sustainability practices, and businesses that join as Leaders are certified through a third-party or currently participate in a national or local sustainability program. Visit the Green Business Partners Program website to learn more about the membership criteria and commitment.

Participation in the Green Business Partners program is free! To join the program, review the information and eligibility requirements on the program website and complete and submit a participation agreement.

Visit www.fairfaxcounty.gov/environment-energy-coordination/green-business to learn more and join today!

Learn more and join the Green
Business Partners
Program today!

A Fairfax County, Va., publication. Fairfax County is committed to nondiscrimination on the basis of disability in all county programs, services and activities. To request reasonable ADA accommodations or alternate format of materials, contact the Office of Environmental and Energy Coordination at greenbusiness@fairfaxcounty.gov or 703-324-7136 TTY 711.

Join the Fairfax County Green Business Partners Program

Help lead the way on sustainable business practices in Fairfax County

Green Business Partners Program

Are you a Fairfax County business interested in or already taking actions to adopt climate-friendly, sustainable business practices? Then the Green Business Partners program is for you!

- Get Recognition—Green Business Partners will be listed in the county's directory, receive a certificate and window decal and have use of program logo, which can strengthen your reputation with employees, customers and the community.
- Enhance Your Sustainability Efforts—Network with other Fairfax County businesses to share success stories and learn from each other through webinars and peer exchanges.
- Save Money and Time—Discover ways to finance clean energy, emissions reduction and sustainability efforts through tax credits, incentives and other financing options.

The Green Business Partners program is free to join, and being a part of it allows your business to be recognized as one that is actively engaging or interested in sustainable business practices that advance climate action and will help create a carbon neutral economy.

Fairfax County's Green Business Partners program brings together local business leaders with a variety of networking, educational, promotional, and employee engagement benefits to support energy and climate-focused business development. It also honors and celebrates current leaders in this field, teaches how green business practices can reduce costs, shares resources like grants or other incentives, and gives a platform for learning through peer exchange.

The Green Business Partners Program has two different levels of participation:

Members:

- Businesses that are not yet implementing but are interested in adopting sustainable business practices, or
- Businesses that have taken initial steps to adopt specific sustainability practices, programs, and/or policies.

Leaders:

- Businesses that have received a certification through a third-party organization or current participation/recognition from a nationally or locally-recognized sustainability program (e.g., ENERGY STAR®, ISO 14001, LEED Certification, EPA's Green Power Partnership, etc.), or
- Businesses that have been recognized by a third-party organization for their sustainability business leadership and can demonstrate they have integrated sustainability into their business model.

Benefits

Participation in the Green Business Partners program is free! By becoming part of this program, you will:

- Have access to a variety of networking, educational, promotional, and employee engagement benefits to support energy and climate-focused business development.
- Be recognized as part of a county-wide sustainability effort.

Additionally, Members and Leaders will set themselves apart from other businesses with a Member or Leader Green Business Partners logo, window decal, and a certificate of program membership, and will be featured on social media and the County's website. Participants will also have access to tools and resources and will have the opportunity to network with other Fairfax County businesses.